

Detective Colmes was at the coffee shop around the corner when he learned that Jones's Jewelry had been broken into. "I arrived this morning to open up the store. As I walked up to my shop, I noticed a lot of broken glass on the pavement. I looked up and realized that the display window had been broken. Colmes looked out the broken window at the sidewalk, littered with glass. Mr. Jones continued, "Then I saw that all of the jewelry from the display window was gone. And it was committed by you that What crime does Colmes suspect Mr. Jones of committing?"