

Is the quantity of charge (free electrons) that pass through a cross sectional area of a wire (conductor) due to the effect of potential difference and its unit is Ampere