

A knowledge-based economy is a type of modern economy that produces a considerable share of output by utilization of innovation and knowledge. In knowledge-based economy, knowledge is utilized to enhance the competitiveness of industries and it alone becomes the key determinant of the level and rate of growth instead of volume and outlays of fixed assets.