

In conclusion, the UAE's journey from small villages to a strong global city and its vision. It will remain an important part of life