

The text describes various metaphors for criticism and its effects. It likens it to conflict, fire, cracking nuts, a bird trapped in a snare, and examining something carefully.