

2. Before you venture into the world of business ownership, you'll first have to say goodbye to your current job, and in some cases, your career. Abandoning the steady paycheck. But for most starting entrepreneurs, the choice is a risky plunge.