

I have an amazing job. I help customers to make decisions about what to buy, so I explain our products to them. I like to learn about the new products in the company.