

Because small events were happening in Paris and Warsaw that were going to change her life. Marya left her position and returned to Warsaw to live with her father.