

- The virtue ethics approach to decision making focuses on how you should behave and think about relationships if you are concerned with your daily life in a community.