

More than one billion people face disabilities worldwide, according to the World Health Organization (WHO). Eight EEG electrodes were used to extract EEG signals from the primary motor cortex.