

The Management accounting is an information system for the collecting, analysis and storage of basic data or information resulting from other information, it has six systems Job costing requirement of job orders to take the work first from the customer and then to complete for him. Performance measurement report This report used to investigate at the achievement of all parts of a business, including the accounting, designing, store, advertising, funds, research, and deals offices Breakeven analysis and report this report shows the fact that a business produces enough sales to earn a profit of nothing. – Hybrid costing used for norm and unique products that produced at low volume sizes. Batch costing is to procedure in batch costing is very similar to job costing. is how to implementing overhead costs to products or processes which is generate or consume the costs.