Audiologists and speech-language pathologists (SLPs) are health-care professionals practice at several healthcare and educational settings including hospitals, clinics, rehabilitation centers, universities, and schools. Summarized by © lakhasly.com