

arranged to one form or another, which could be achieved sometimes by building upon any of the fixed ones, sometimes depending on the poet's whim.