

Internet has changed the world It all started in 1969 when Kline, one of Professor Kleinrock's students in LA, tried to log in remotely to a machine in Stanford.