

Averages: reflect the arithmetic average price behavior of a representative group of stocks at a given point in time.