

1- the idea of CPH, which was first presented by two neurologists, Penfield, W., & Roberts (1959; Lenneberg (1967). Suggest that SLA is easier and more successful during a specific time period, leading to native-speaker competency. Ozfidan & Burlbaw (2019) conclude that the foundation for this theory is the brain's structure, after which it becomes more challenging.