

Communications management refers to the systematic planning, execution, and monitoring of all communications within a project or organization.