?Once, a young man was asked to paint a boat for a rich man.? Even the tiniest good deeds could make a big difference in someone's life. ? Your kindness might mean the world to someone else, just like many people have unknowingly helped you in the past. ? While he was painting, he noticed a tiny hole in the boat's hull. ? He quietly fixed the hole without saying anything. ? I don't deserve so much for such a small repair. ? The boat owner smiled and explained you don't understand how important your act was. ? My kids took the boat for a fishing trip after you finished painting and they didn't know about the hole. ? I wasn't there at the time and when I came back I worried because I remembered the hole. ? I tried calling them but couldn't reach them. ? Imagine my relief when they returned safely.
