

Plastics are widely used that imagining our lives without them is impossible. Upon usage, products made from plastic become weak or fragile, so it is necessary to dispose of them appropriately