

The marketer must recognize the needs of the consumer and change his behaviour. The focus must be on the target class to help increase sales and gain customer satisfaction by providing their needs.