

During my classes, I found myself increasingly fascinated by physics, advanced mathematics, and occasionally, computer science.