

Abstract The purpose of the current study was to examine the type and form of future jobs, in light of the modern Resources technological trends of the NEOM project.