

C. The objectives of sensory assessment encompass accurately identifying product sensory attributes, quantifying sensory quality, comparing products, fostering new product development, enhancing existing product quality, ensuring product consistency, and comprehending consumer preferences.