

"opalescent porcelains" by incorporating lanthanide oxides (such as cerium oxide) to give the porcelain fluorescence property, since natural teeth can display some opalescence, the availability of opalescent porcelains adds further to the ability to match natural tooth appearance in every way