

This entails addressing increasing demand for healthier alternatives and sustainable practices.