

For most of us, multitasking is generally less efficient than focusing on one task at a time. In fact, research over the last 30 years demonstrates that multitasking can result in mental overload and that switching between multiple tasks costs us efficiency [3]. Further, it may be helpful to compartmentalize tasks.