

Absorbance measurements are always carried out at fixed wavelength (using monochromatic light). When a wavelength is chosen for quantitative analysis, three factors should be considered: 1.