

We can think of politeness in general terms as having to do with ideas like being tactful, modest and nice to other people.