

1. Lack of communication or support: In some cases, your boss may be unavailable or uninterested in providing the necessary support or effective communication. Loss of freedom and independence: You may find yourself constrained by the decisions and directives of your boss, which reduces your freedom in making decisions related to your work. Work pressure and responsibility: You may have to handle the work pressure imposed on you by your boss, including meeting goals and deadlines. This can lead to conflicts or disagreements regarding decisions and overall work directions. 2. 3. 4. 5.