Management accounting provides financial and non-financial information for decision-making, resource allocation, and performance evaluation.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com