

Addressing the United Nations General Assembly in New York, he defended his decision to abandon the nuclear deal.