

chief economic responsibility that a firm has is to its owners or investors. business is responsible for making money for its investors. They want to earn a profit or a return on their investment in the firm.