

Tension-type headache is the most widespread neurological ailment and the second most common chronic disease worldwide. Myofascial pain may be an essential etiologic factor.