After I graduated from high school, my family and I had a wonderful meal at an Italian restaurant to celebrate. It was ?a special day because my family was all there with me. When we entered the restaurant, it felt cozy and welcoming. We sat at a large table and smiled at each other with excitement. We ordered spaghetti and pizza. The food was delicious, but what made this meal memorable was the surprise at the end.