

A large company or group of companies authorized to act as a single entity and recognized as such in law.