Constructivism is an educational philosophy and theory that emphasizes that the learner actively and effectively builds their own knowledge (individually or collectively) based on their previous experiences.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com