

Aquaponics in the UAE combines aquaculture and hydroponics, using 90% less water than traditional farming. The UAE government supports research to enhance productivity, employing advanced climate control for year-round production.