

Western-style clothing is popular in most cities of Lebanon, and urban women are highly conscious, and traditional clothing is still more prevalent in some villages, which includes long dresses for women, and black trousers and jackets for men, which are full and loose from the waist.