

According to this logic, an illness of the body is ultimately caused by the same force as the collapse of the granary: witchcraft.