

Face-to-face education is ideal because it fosters a dynamic and interactive learning environment. Students can directly engage with teachers, participate in discussions, and learn from each other. This collaborative atmosphere motivates students, promotes understanding, and enhances the overall learning experience.