

Platelet scan tests: Platelet count is determined by doing after total blood cells (CBC test). This test gives us enough information about whether there is a defect in the number of platelets.