

Each parent's genotype is represented by a set of letters where capital letters are always dominant and lower-case are always recessive.