

It was so nice to hear from you. I still can't speak very well, but my teachers and classmates usually understand me. By the way, my classmates are very friendly, and I've made some new friends. You don't need to worry about me because I'm doing fine. It was a little difficult for me to adjust at first because everything here is so different. The weather in London is quite cold. The meals at the cafeteria are pretty good. This afternoon, we had vegetarian pizza and salad. The university has quite a large campus. We study together and hang out in the evenings. Next week, our class is going to visit Big Ben. They've arranged for a tour guide to show us around. I'll send you some photos. I'm going to the library to study now. So, let's talk on Skype this Saturday. I think of you all the time, too. It's about 14°C right now, but they say it can get really cold in the winter. The food is strange, too, but nothing like Mom's cooking. I got lost on the first day, but I managed to ask for directions and made it to class on time. As for my classes, they are really interesting and the teachers are extremely helpful. I have four hours of English every day, so I'm learning quite fast. I miss you! Love
