

When cervical invasion is preoperative, the type of surgery and lymph nodes that need to be performed are also affected by how far the tumor has spread to the cervix.