

When one hears the term "reality" applied to a television show, one might expect that the events occurred naturally or, at the least, were not scripted, but this is not always the case. Many reality shows occur in unreal environments, like rented mansions occupied by film crews. These living environments do not reflect what most people understand to be "reality." Worse, there have been accusations that events not captured on film were later restaged by producers.