

Problem solving is the process of solving any problem. After identifying the problem and its cause, the next step is to identify and implement alternative solutions.