3: Bioburden-Based Sterilization Validation Method The bioburden-based method is used when material stability is poor or when no suitable biological indicator microorganisms are available to use with the sterilizing process.Traditionally, radiation sterilization processes are validated using a bioburden-based method.#

Summarized by © lakhasly.com