

: The objective of the group project is to conduct a detailed study and analysis of a selected Omani company, with a focus on its recruitment and retention strategies, HR practices, and HR protocols. The goals of the group project include applying theoretical concepts to real-world situations, enhancing understanding of HR functions, and refining research, critical analysis, and presentation skills.