Environmental analysis is the process of scanning the environment to identify changes or trends that may create opportunities or threats to the current or future intended strategies of firms
Summarized by © lakhasly.com	