

iron is very important in diet. good sources of iron are liver, lentils, whole grains, green leafy vegetables, egg yolk, and molasses. a lack of iron makes people anaemic and causes fatigue and depression. it helps children grow and increase resistance to disease.